

Mialie T. Szymanski      Writer + Illustrator

All website content, including text and illustrations, copyright © MTS unless otherwise noted.

Some icons for the links on Favorite Pages are copyright by their respective web page owners. The book graphic in the sMialie.com header was found using Google search for public use images of “book” and edited (cropped in to use a single book of the stack and then colorized individually) to fit the design purposes of this site. The unedited graphic is in use on multiple web sites by various companies and the exact origin for artistic credit is unknown. The “open book” graphic is Microsoft Word clipart, recolored for the design purposes of this site.

All other images are original illustrations © MTS and may not be reproduced without written permission.

“The Girl in the Green Cloak” is a trademark character created by Mialie’s Creative Outlet.

“Puppy Tails: Adventures of Doodle Dog” and “Doodle Dog Enjoys the Day” are original works by Mialie T. Szymanski published through The Weekly Villager in Garrettsville, Ohio. Doodle Dog, the floppy-eared puppy, is an original character created by Mialie T. Szymanski, based on the statue, owned by The Weekly Villager, which curiously guards the office.

All presentations and workshops offered by Mialie T. Szymanski contain original material and may not be recorded, archived, distributed, or reproduced without special written permission from the presenter. Generally, permission is not granted except in extraordinary cases.